Cindy Pierce

Navigating the realities of sex in a hyper-sexualized world

"Cindy has a unique ability to put her audiences at ease with humor while addressing this difficult subject. Her stories are relatable and grounded in research. She makes it so much easier to talk with adolescents about this sensitive topic."

—Barbara Farnsworth, Executive Director, Second Growth Inc.

Cindy's Keynotes:

Cindy's keynotes weave together humor, expert opinion, personal anecdotes, and the honest feedback of today's college and high school students to openly address the seen and unseen influences kids face in the digital age. She addresses sex, relationships, the hookup scene, and the impact of alcohol on decision-making. By talking directly about these difficult subjects, she makes these conversations a little easier for everyone. Her keynotes can be customized for parents and educators, college students, or high school students. Cindy's keynotes will:

- Help teens form their own values in this critical area and not accept those put on them by peers and society
- Offer concrete tools and tactics to help them stay true to those values
- Guide kids toward healthy life choices by giving them perspective to inspire social courage

CINDY PIERCE is a leading social sexuality educator and comic storyteller who has been performing her one-woman comedic show and providing educational program around healthy sexual behavior and choices since 2004. Combining humor and research, she she talks to audiences about the realities kids confront in today's media-driven world. Cindy is the author of Sexploitation: Helping Kids Develop Healthy Sexuality in a Porn Driven World and is co-author of Finding the Doorbell. She lives with her husband Bruce and their three teenage kids in Etna, New Hampshire, near Dartmouth College, where they own and run Pierce's Inn. Find more at www.cindy-pierce.com.

Additional praise:

"Cindy has an uncanny gift of bringing closet subjects about sex and relationships into the open, and in a humorous way. Cindy's message is not only beneficial to college students, but desperately needed."

—Josh Dooley, Dartmouth College, Class of 2006

"Cindy Pierce is, was and will continue to be the funniest woman I have ever met. She is a natural storyteller."

—Mike O'Malley, Creator and Executive Producer of Survivor's Remorse, and Burt Hummel on Glee

Audiences:

Educators, Parent groups, Coaches, High school and College students, Independent schools. Content is customizable to audience age and needs.

Recent engagements & media:

Dartmouth College, NPR's Here and Now, Deerfield Academy, and Vermont Public Radio, amongst many others.

