

Cindy Pierce

Author, Speaker, Storyteller & Sexuality Educator

"I have dug into some challenging topics with Cindy and even the most emotional conversations include laughter and levity. One of her greatest gifts is her ability to give her undivided attention and full presence in a conversation. Her vulnerability makes me feel safe, less alone, and that I'm on the path to more parenting joy."

– Parent of young kids

Photo by Britton Menn

Laying the Foundation for Healthy Relationships in a Digital World

Cindy Pierce encourages parents and caregivers to proactively engage children in honest, age-appropriate conversations that prepare them to navigate social and cultural pressures, both online and offline. She emphasizes teaching kids to trust their intuition, communicate clearly, and establish healthy boundaries. Through her work, Cindy helps parents recognize the influences shaping young people today, build the courage to step into their role as primary sexuality educators, model social courage, and rethink rules and expectations around screen time, phones, and social media.

Bio:

Cindy Pierce is an author, educational speaker, sexuality educator, comic storyteller, innkeeper, and mom of three young adults. Combining years of research with her storytelling skills, Cindy's presentations are highly engaging and informative. Parents report that Cindy's message inspires them to be more intentional in their approach to addressing challenging topics with their kids. Cindy is the author of three books, including Sexploitation: Helping Kids Develop Healthy Sexuality in a Porn-Driven World. She and her husband, Bruce Lingelbach, own and run Pierce's Inn in Etna, NH. You can learn more about Cindy's work at:

www.cindy-pierce.com

Quick Links to Videos

Sexuality Education: Keeping the Headlights On
Parent Education: Our Kids' Invisible Social Lives

Additional Links & Resources

- Cindy's YouTube Page
- Cindy's website

Contact Information

For questions or more information, please contact Cindy's speaking agent, Sarah Callaway at: info@cindy-pierce.com or 781-366-4187